Specification

Community Research Networks:
Strategic coordination programme

UKRI-3637

1. Introduction

We are looking for a supplier who can work with us to implement the next phase of the Community Research Networks programme. We will award to a single supplier but welcome and encourage partnership bids.

The supplier(s) will be responsible for working in partnership with UKRI to develop and deliver:

- A grant awarding process
- A strategic coordination programme

The total budget for this programme of work is £1,200,000 excluding VAT. The work will begin in April 2024 and will be complete by March 2030.

Community Research Networks is a funding call launched by UKRI in July 2022. The purpose of the programme is to fund consortia across the UK to build the capacity, capability and connectivity required to support sustainable and equitable community engagement with research. This programme supports our public engagement strategy objective to make sure the benefits of research and innovation are shared widely by supporting collaboration and valuing diverse forms of knowledge.

The call is supporting collaborations made up of community organisations, charities, local authorities and research organisations. We are investing more than £8m in grants across two key phases of funding; phase one was an expression of interest phase, with collaborations working to formalise their relationships, establish local priorities and plan for the implementation phase (phase two). In phase 2 we will fund up to ten networks for five years, with total funding of up to £1m per network.

- Working in partnership with UKRI, the supplier will develop and deliver:-
  - (1) an application, assessment, awarding and monitoring process for the implementation phase grants and;
  - (2) a strategic coordination programme that will support the collaborations to deliver, capture insights and evidence from the programme and share this widely with the sector.

2. Aims & Objectives

Together, the work packages outlined in this specification will support UKRI to deliver on the objectives and outcomes of the Community Research Networks Programme. The high-level objectives of the programme are to:

- Convene and connect: Strengthen local capability for community-engaged research in UK regions by facilitating and supporting new partnership across multiple layers of the local community, civil society and research ecosystems.
- Develop and support: Build local capacity and capability for community-engaged research through training, knowledge exchange and skills development.
- Test and learn: Develop a body of knowledge and evidence about effective community-engaged research through investment, piloting, scaling and evaluating new approaches and practices, and sharing this with others.

The programme seeks to create the following outcomes:

- Increased capacity to create and mobilise knowledge that is relevant to and addresses the needs and priorities of local communities, including the research and innovation community.
- Stronger, mutually beneficial relationships between research organisations, local community organisations, local public policy organisations, charities and other civil society institutions.
- Enhanced and embedded skills and resource in the effective facilitation and production of community-engaged research and innovation.
- Increased understanding and evidence about the processes and benefits of communities playing a meaningful role in the research and innovation process.
- Substantive examples of contributions made to local policy and research and innovation priorities through a community-engaged approach.

As they develop, we expect networks to achieve these objectives and outcomes through a combination of the following key areas of activity:

- Develop the knowledge, skills, capacity and capability required to support or undertake research and innovation that gives communities a meaningful role in its definition, production, analysis, communication and use.
- Create, strengthen and sustain connections between organisations that can contribute to a research and innovation ecosystem with a strengthened role for communities.
- Undertake, commission, pilot and scale projects and activity that will enhance the role of communities in research and produce relevant learning and insight about how to do this effectively.
- Capture learning and insight from the network's activity and proactively share this with UKRI and other stakeholders interested in or connected to the network.

The objectives of the work packages set out in this document are:

WP1: Implementation phase grant administration

1. To manage, in partnership with UKRI, a process to award up to £8m to 8-10 eligible collaborations over five years.
2. To assist UKRI in the monitoring of spending and performance and to implement appropriate mechanisms for change control and financial risk over the course of the grant period.

WP2: Strategic Coordination Programme

1. To provide dedicated support to the collaborations funded by the Community Research Networks programme.
2. To capture, analyse and communicate the emerging lessons, insights, ideas and challenges associated with creating more sustainable and equitable forms of community engagement with research.
3. To work with UKRI to raise the profile and enhance the impact of our work in this area by helping us to build, engage and convene a network of key stakeholders.

To deliver on these objectives we are looking for suppliers who have experience and expertise in:

- Developing and delivering grant programmes designed for at least one, and ideally multiple, of the following: community organisations, universities, local authorities and charities.
- Developing and delivering grant programmes that align to Government Functional Standard 15: Grants.
- Supporting grant-funded teams to build relationships and learn from each other.
- Enhancing grant-funded teams' knowledge and practice through access to expert support, guidance and training.
- Capturing learning from grant-funded programmes and teams.
- Sharing learning with stakeholders relevant to this programme, including funders, researchers and policymakers.

Working with a diverse range of organisations, with an understanding of the dynamics of collaborative community-based research approaches.

3. Background to the Requirement

Context for the programme

The Community Research Networks programme aims to create a series of networks that enable equitable and sustainable forms of community participation in research. The programme was informed by scoping research carried out by the Institute for Community Studies and The Young Foundation, a summary of which can be found in the report An equitable future for research and innovation.

Community Research Networks is part of UKRI's wider communities programme that seeks to build connectivity, capability and learning that strengthens the relationship between communities and the R&I system – it is complemented by the Community Knowledge Fund, which seeks to test a flipped approach to public engagement with R&I, with communities taking the lead. UKRI is also currently supporting the Community Research Partnerships Learning Programme (final report available here), the Creative Communities programme, Community-led Research Pilot and the Highlands and Islands Climate Change Community Grant.

The Community Research Networks programme is managed by the UKRI Public Engagement Team and is a key commitment in the UKRI public engagement strategy, published in November 2022.

The programme is supporting collaborations made up of community organisations, charities, local authorities and research organisations across two key phases of funding. Phase one was a funded expression of interest phase, providing up to £50,000 over 15 months to 25 collaborations interested in forming a network – it was administered via UKRI's Innovation Funding Service, and the funding period runs from 1 March 2023 and ends on 31 May 2024. Phase two is the implementation phase and will provide up to £1,000,000 over five years to up to 10 of the collaborations funded in phase one.

Further information about the Community Research Networks programme can be found in the UKRI launch blog, the expression of interest call details, the funding announcement and the Young Foundation's website.

The Strategic Coordination Programme forms part of our commitment to invest in infrastructure and partnerships to build the skills, capacities and networks that enable long-term, meaningful collaboration. A key outcome of this package is to capture and spread the learning and practice generated through UKRI's investment in the Community Research Networks.

4. Scope

We anticipate the Contract for this work will begin on 1 April 2024 and shall be in place up to but not after 31 March 2030.

Each work package's scope has a number of elements, which are briefly outlined below and expanded on in the requirement section.

WP1: The Implementation phase grant administration is made up into the following elements:

1. An accessible, secure and easy-to-use application process, including assessment, due diligence, awarding and payment.
2. Applicant support, including briefing sessions and on-demand assistance.
3. Mechanisms to monitor, change, close, reconcile and recover grants.

WP2: The Strategic Coordination Programme will be made up of the following four elements:

We have provided an indicative overview of activity across the period of the Contract in the timetable section. However, we encourage the supplier to use their experience and expertise to propose a timeline that works best for the collaborations and enables the work to stay within budget.

The funded collaborations are spread widely across the UK, so we expect suppliers to have the capacity to work nationally. The following sets out our expectations for the supplier under the contract. While each work package defines a distinct set of activity, we expect the supplier to create efficiencies between their delivery.

WP1: Implementation phase grants

The supplier will administer grants on behalf of UKRI, under terms and conditions agreed and approved, at its absolute discretion, by UKRI.

By the time the Contract is in place, we anticipate that UKRI will have established:

- Detailed scope and focus of the implementation phase, including guidance for applicants
- The structure and content of the application form
- Eligibility and assessment criteria
- Eligible activities and costs
- Assessment model
- Assessment panel and peer review membership
- Any specific terms and conditions under which the grants are to be awarded

The supplier(s) will work closely with UKRI to set up and manage a process that builds on this work and contributes to the delivery of the programme's objectives and outcomes. As such, suppliers should outline how they will work with UKRI to achieve the desired outcomes as well as their approach to the outputs. While much of the funding process will be defined by UKRI, we will welcome the input of the supplier in shaping its delivery and will be responsive to suggestions for improvement.

The supplier will be responsible for ensuring that grants are delivered in a way that is suited to the nature and diversity of organisations that make up the networks and that aligns to the principles of Government Functional Standard 15: Grants.

In particular, the supplier will be responsible, in partnership with UKRI, for ensuring adherence to the following sections of the Standard:

- Grant agreements
- Risk, controls and assurance
- Performance and monitoring
- Annual review and reconciliation

As part of your response, you should clearly set out your proposed approach to:

- Application capture
- Assessment facilitation
- Due diligence and award
- Monitoring
- Payment and reconciliation
- Change control
- Risk management
- Clawback

Application and assessment

UKRI will provide the supplier with the application questions and guidance, which the supplier will build into their chosen application method or system. The target application window is mid-April to mid-June, so the supplier should explain in their response how they will work with UKRI to set up the application process by this deadline. The supplier will also be responsible for setting up channels to provide technical and application support, which we anticipate being staffed jointly by UKRI and the supplier.

The assessment model will be established by UKRI and is likely to include both peer-review and panel assessment methods. Final selection will be based on a portfolio approach and will be made at the absolute discretion of UKRI. The supplier will be responsible for ensuring all relevant application information can be securely and efficiently shared with assessors.

Number and structure of awards

A maximum of 10 networks will be selected for award. The supplier will award grants of up to £1,000,000 to each network over a five year Contract period. The target start date for grants is between 1 September and 1 October 2024. Following the assessment process, the supplier will be responsible for completing the due diligence process and setting up grant agreements and payment schedules with each of the successful networks. UKRI will work with the successful supplier to ensure the terms and conditions of award are compliant with our requirements.

Grant agreements will need to be structured to allow payment to more than one partner involved in the network (or for multiple, linked agreements to single recipients).

There is no planned limit to the number of partners that can form a collaboration, but we expect most networks to have 3-6 grant claiming partners. Due diligence arrangements should be proportionate to both the award amount and the scale and capabilities of the recipient organisation.

Each network will nominate a lead partner, who will be the main point of contact for the supplier in relation to the network's grant-related administration. They will assist the supplier in collecting the information required for due diligence, monitoring and payment, as well as for reporting any changes to the network as per the agreed change control process.

Grant management

Given the range of organisational scales and capacities represented across the networks, and the iterative nature of their work, we expect the supplier to be responsive to the needs of each network, offering flexibility in the scheduling, regularity and monitoring of grants. Processes should be commensurate with the findings of the due diligence processes and the needs of the individual grantees.

We expect payments to grantees be profiled relatively evenly across the funding period, and for the supplier to conduct a reconciliation process for grant spend across all funded networks at least every 12 months. Suppliers should outline their approach to determining the size and regularity of payments to grant recipients, as well as how they will monitor and reconcile spending throughout the lifetime of the grants.

Governance and transfer of grant monies

Grant money will be distributed from UKRI to the supplier based on an agreed payment schedule and will be governed by a Grant Funding Agreement based on the Model Grant Funding Agreement.

The supplier will be responsible for passing on grant monies to successful networks, in line with payment schedules agreed with each recipient.

Subsidy compliance

The UK's Subsidy Control rules regulate financial assistance given by public authorities (including UKRI) to organisations engaged in economic activity.

Due to the nature of the organisations that make up the networks and the work they will undertake, we do not expect grants given under this scheme to constitute a subsidy. However, suppliers should demonstrate in their response the steps they will take to ensure grants are awarded in compliance with the Subsidy Control Act 2022; particularly how you will evidence and record whether the award is or is not a subsidy under the parameters of the Act.

WP2: Strategic Coordination Programme

1. Applicant and awardee support

This will provide dedicated support to collaborations, ensuring that they understand and are supported to deliver against the goals and expectations of UKRI.

The supplier(s) will:

- Undertake regular check-ins with collaborations to assist with set-up, delivery, issue and change management throughout the lifetime of their grant.
- Support collaborations that are unsuccessful at the implementation phase through signposting to appropriate resources and networks and offering them the opportunity to join aspects of the strategic support programme.

2. Peer-to-peer networking, knowledge exchange and professional development

This package will provide opportunities for collaborations to enhance their knowledge and practice through access to expert support, guidance, training and evaluation.

The supplier(s) will:

- Provide a simple, accessible mechanism for collaborations, UKRI and the supplier(s) to communicate asynchronously throughout the lifetime of the programme.
- Design, organise and evaluate several (at least one per year) in-person events across the programme that connect the collaborations to each other, providing opportunities for networking and knowledge exchange.
- Design, organise and evaluate a series of online or in-person, needs-based workshops, talks, training, mentoring or coaching sessions for collaborations to enhance their knowledge and practice.
- Support collaborations to connect with and share their activity, learning and outcomes (for example via blogs, social media, workshops, conferences or other creative approaches) with relevant stakeholders.

3. Learning and evaluation

This package will provide UKRI with support to capture key learning from the individual collaborations and the wider Community Research Networks programme. A formal, external evaluation of the programme will be commissioned at a later date; the focus of this package is on iterative learning that can be reincorporated into the programme, influence practice and be shared with relevant stakeholders.

The supplier(s) will:

- Work with UKRI to develop a monitoring and evaluation plan for the Community Research Networks programme.
- Use qualitative and quantitative methods to collect data at crucial points throughout the programme, including from project leads, partners and community participants.
- Produce regular reports of learning from the programme for UKRI, including
  - o Compelling case studies that demonstrate the value of community engaged research to the wider R&I system.
  - o Regular insight from the community participants engaged through the activity of the networks
  - o A final programme report, in a format to be agreed with UKRI.

4. Network building and thought leadership

This package will widen the reach and impact of the programme, connecting UKRI and the funded collaborations to a wider field of organisations and expertise, including funders, civil society organisations, policymakers and researchers and innovators.

The supplier(s) will:

- Design, organise and evaluate a series of events across the funding lifecycle that showcase and connect the process, outcomes, learning and impact of the programme to key stakeholders.
- Host an online hub* and publish regular outputs to communicate the lessons from the programme including blogs, videos and reports.
- Use the online hub to publish relevant insight from diverse voices beyond the Community Research Networks programme. This could include guest blogs, think pieces and summaries of new policy and practice.

*This could be part of an existing website and does not need to be built from scratch.

Participation by grantees in the Strategic Coordination Programme

Funded collaborations are aware that UKRI is procuring a delivery partner to administer implementation phase grants and to run a coordination programme. Participation by the collaborations in some elements of the programme will be a condition of funding.

The supplier should indicate in their response which elements they suggest being mandatory.

Across the programme, suppliers should aim for a balance of activity that is responsive to the needs of the collaborations, without being overly burdensome. Each element of the strategic support programme should be able to accommodate at least two representatives from each collaboration, with some activities being made open to more, depending on the nature of the event. Suppliers should clearly outline who each of the engagement activities they propose are for.

Guidance for applicants to the Implementation phase will include advice on how to cost their participation in the strategic support programme as part of the application. We expect supplier(s) to assist UKRI in finalising this guidance based on their plans for the strategic support programme.

About the funded collaborations

We funded 25 collaborations in the expression of interest phase. Each collaboration is made up of at least two organisations and there are 78 named organisations involved, with many more informally involved.

Further information about the locations, themes and spatial geographies of the collaborations is shown in figure 1. A list of the funded networks can be found on our website.

The Supplier shall identify and deliver on Social Value initiatives as identified and agreed. The Supplier will be responsible for recording and reporting performance against agreed Social Value scorecards.
