Core Specification for Net Zero Living: Thriving Places Technical Assistance Pool

1. Introduction

1.1 Context

Innovate UK, a part of UK Research & Innovation, is procuring a Technical Assistance Pool to provide expert support to local authorities and their partners funded by its Net Zero Living: Thriving Places programme to accelerate their net zero journey.

The Technical Assistance Pool will be delivering support as part of Innovate UK's integrated capacity building and upskilling package, Future Ready, alongside other programme delivery partners.

There are three core functions within Future Ready that the Technical Assistance Pool will be expected to deliver.

- Net Zero Academy: Training and upskilling modules
- Dedicated 121 Support
- Insights Generation and consolidation

There are four key areas of expertise that we are seeking to procure, each as an individual lot. Suppliers can apply to one or multiple lots and we welcome collaborative applications. Please note any consortiums or collaborations will be required to bid under a lead supplier as a sub-contractor.

- Lot 1: Visioning and Citizen Engagement
- Lot 2: Net Zero Planning
- Lot 3: Finance & Investment
- Lot 4: Policy & Regulation

The Technical Assistance Pool is expected to work collaboratively to design and deliver a programme of support that enables cohorts to upskill across these four focus areas integrating support where overlaps exist to make support as streamlined as possible for cohorts.

1.2 Future Ready Integrated Delivery Structure Overview

The diagram below outlines the structure of the programme and how we expect the Technical Assistance Pool to interact both with the cohorts and other partners to deliver a coordinated overall programme.

All three cohorts are focussed on accelerating local net zero deployment, but each are at a different stage in that journey and have been funded by Innovate UK to undertake different actions on that path.

- 5 x Demonstrators furthest ahead in their net zero journeys funded by our Net Zero Pathfinder Phase 2 competition for 21 months to run multi-million-pound programmes that show how to practically implement net zero projects and unlock barriers to delivery
- 25 x Pathfinders funded by our Net Zero Pathfinder Phase 2 competition for 18 months to continue developing their plans for removing non-technical barriers to net zero delivery and engaging in our active programme of learning. (Note: not in receipt of demonstrator funding).
- 21 x Fast Followers that are at an earlier stage of their net zero journey, funded for 24 months by the net zero fast follower competition to provide a net zero innovation officer function who will participate in an active programme of learning and support, whilst also delivering a small net zero pilot project

While each place has grant funding for their own net zero efforts, Future Ready brings the cohorts together across the total funding period to create critical opportunities for knowledge exchange, upskilling and collaboration between them. This real-time sharing and learning is essential for building the collective understanding of local net zero delivery and accelerating impact both within and outside the programme. It will help us remove barriers faster, identify common challenges to be addressed, and remove unnecessary duplication of effort.

1.3 Programme timescales

As the cohorts have been recruited through different competitions with different scopes, the timeline of their activities also differs. Programme timescales are shown below.

- Lot 1 - Visioning & Citizen Engagement: developing a clear future-proofed vision of what a just and sustainable net zero transition looks like in relation to the specific challenges and opportunities faced by a place, and using that vision to drive meaningful citizen engagement that ensures it is fit for all, so as to improve acceptance and uptake of net zero solutions
- Lot 2 - Net Zero Planning: support to enable local authorities to understand the best approach to take to decarbonisation planning that accelerates pipeline development while allowing them to get on with delivering no-regrets activity like domestic energy efficiency and retrofit measures.
- Lot 3 - Finance & Investment: how to work with the finance community to develop investable projects that can attract private sector finance at scale and respond to local needs and identified business opportunities, and which accelerates net zero deployment
- Lot 4 - Policy and Regulation: helps cohorts to understand the policy and regulatory environment as it changes and how it affects their net zero plans, how to tackle identified barriers and proactively engage (collectively and individually) to push for change where barriers to local net zero delivery exist.

An additional supplier will be procured through the Net Zero Living: User Focused Products Digital Accelerator Support to deliver support across both sides of the programme on Data & Digital. Within Thriving Places this supplier will work as part of the Technical Assistance Pool to enable cohorts to understand data best practice principles and how digitalisation and open data best practice can optimise their net zero journey to lead to better outcomes. Furthermore, Future Ready will also provide support to cohorts in how to engage business in co-creating appropriate solutions to their challenges, which will be delivered by Innovate UK KTN. All technical assistance pool suppliers will be expected to collaborate with the partners in these other work streams as well as with each other.

2.2 Defining success

We want to equip local authorities and their net zero innovation officers with a set of skills, experiences, and ethos that we think are essential to accelerate the deployment of appropriate local net zero solutions.

However, we are also looking to inspire change and innovative thinking in order to accelerate the transition to net zero.

Throughout all support streams, the local authorities should build an understanding of how to measure and evaluate their own success and engage with suppliers at every level of the programme to participate in programme monitoring and evaluation.

By the end of this programme, we want to have successfully supported up to 51 places in developing and/or deploying locally appropriate solutions that:

- build on the wealth of existing previous work that we and others have done in this area
- make significant progress towards supporting their decarbonisation plans
- respond to real citizen needs across all demographics and support the most vulnerable
- have identified innovative private sector partners helping drive growth across the economy
- have clearer frameworks for financing supported by an engaged and proactive finance community
- have ensured local authorities and projects are using data and digitalisation appropriately to plan and deliver more effectively, report and monitor progress, and have adopted data best practice.

- ensure project participants delivering this work are well networked, supported and maximising their agency and leadership potential
- ensure pathways, methods and learning are being shared openly to support other local authorities and stakeholders achieve net zero across the UK
- create a collaborative policy and regulatory feedback loop so that projects are sharing barriers and opportunities with government who are responsive to the opportunities in places across the UK.

Success for the programme will be demonstrated in the success of the participants, the increased confidence and expertise in the supported individuals in driving net zero development programmes, the coherence of the support networks and partners, and in demonstrating to key policy makers how these local approaches can be optimised to support net zero, levelling-up, and UK-wide growth and the skills required to deliver net zero at scale.

Support Innovate UK's efforts to build our collective understanding of how local approaches to net zero and meaningfully contribute to:

- Delivering the social, environmental and economic benefits associated with local optimisation in the net zero transition
- meeting national net zero targets, and what is required from local actors to achieve this at the scale and pace needed
- Informing the design and development of future interventions delivered across the support landscape by IUK, DESNZ and other stakeholders
- Collaborating and coordinating with other stakeholders in the local net zero support space to ensure strategic alignment of delivery and policy messaging

Inform Innovate UK KTN, DESNZ and other relevant stakeholders understanding of how capacity building and technical assistance support could be scaled to meet the needs of all local authorities in their transition to net zero

3. Scope

3.1 Overview

Future Ready will bring together three cohorts of local authorities at different stages of their net zero journey, and with different needs. The Technical Assistance Pool will need to work with them all alongside IUK, the Convenor and other programme delivery partners, to develop an impactful support and learning package in response to their requirements and in service of the overall aims and objectives of the Thriving Places programme.

The four lots of the Technical Assistance Pool will be appointed by January 2023 for a contract length of 24 months to the end of the Thriving Places programme in December 2025, including 2 months wrap up once cohort activity has closed.

3.2 Core Functions

There are three core functions within Future Ready that the Technical Assistance Pool will be expected to deliver against each of the lots. Across these three functions, the Technical Assistance Pool is expected to work collaboratively to design and deliver a programme of support that enables cohorts to upskill across the four focus areas and to integrate content where intersections exist to make this as streamlined as possible for projects.

Specific requirements for each function are defined within each lot.

Net Zero Academy: Training and upskilling modules

- Inspiring, participatory, creative and innovative training and upskilling modules across the thematic focus areas shown in the diagram above in blue available to all programme participants. Participation levels expected up to 120 per session.

- The Technical Assistance Pool will be responsible for delivering, producing and creating all content and materials. Content should build on existing resources and tools, and focus on capacity building and upskilling for delivery. We are not looking for more toolkits.
- Recordings of content, supporting tools and resources will be shared across the programme and externally with local authorities and other stakeholders not in receipt of funding, during the programme.
- Content will be informed by the expertise of the Technical Assistance supplier, and responsive to cohort needs identified in 121 support and community of practice engagement. Flexible and responsive support activity should be built in to meet emerging programme need.
- The training content must be developed to reflect differing perspectives and experiences. Suppliers must demonstrate a track record in developing training modules that consider the requirements of diverse communities, including disabled and neurodiverse individuals.
- Content will be delivered by the technical assistance pool during monthly online training and quarterly in person residential events organised by the convenor over 24 months. The pool will work with the convenor to deliver a coherent programme, we do not expect every supplier to deliver content every month, but at appropriate intervals and levels for each cohort. Collaboration is essential, no silos!
- Demonstrator projects, as the furthest ahead in their journey, should play an active role in sharing learning, contributing to content and participating.
- Technical Assistance suppliers should also draw in relevant examples from outside the programme.
- By the end of the programme, we expect all participants to have improved their knowledge and skills in each of the technical areas and are either demonstrating that learning within their project delivery or have a clear plan in place of maximising the impact of this knowledge.
- The convenor and Technical Assistance Pool should work together to identify opportunities for suppliers and projects to work collaboratively and deliver joined up training where there is overlap between topics (e.g. planning and finance, or planning and engagement)

Dedicated 121 Support

- Tailored, expert support for projects to unlock specific issues within the pools area of expertise, drawing on external specialists where required.
- Support should respond to the needs of the cohort, helping participants through the practical process, doing the work with them where possible, rather than just telling them how to do it where required.
- The Technical Assistance supplier is responsible for arranging the 121 support and measuring impact.
- Each of the 21 fast followers will require some 121 support, but the amount needed may vary depending on where they are in their net zero journey, and the focus of their projects. Technical Assistance suppliers will need to baseline and track progress of Fast Followers to show progress in their learning/capacity and delivery/impact.
- The convenor and Technical Assistance Pool should work together to identify opportunities for suppliers and projects to work collaboratively and deliver joined up 121 support where there is overlap between topics (e.g. planning and finance, or planning and engagement)

Insights Generation and Consolidation

- The Technical Assistance Pool will proactively develop insights, delivering thought-leadership pieces capturing common challenges and potential solutions as they emerge.

- Insights and learnings will be gathered/analysed/synthesised by each supplier in the Technical Assistance Pool, who will feed clear, concise, accessible and jargon-free content back to the convenor who is responsible for insights collation across the programme.
- The technical suppliers will also be required to share insights with the convenor and IUK and work with a communications partner to share them externally with the market, policy makers and the wider local net zero landscape.
- Insights from all cohort touchpoints should be used to continuously inform programme content to deliver against the cohorts' varied and evolving needs, working collaboratively where there is overlap.
- IUK may use insights and evidence to support policy and regulatory development.
- Insights will be shared in a collaborative way with other stakeholders supporting delivery of local net zero to ensure coordination, avoid duplication, and refine policy and regulatory messaging so that we are presenting a clear, aligned and compelling case to government about what is needed next to support local net zero delivery.

3.3 Procurement lots

There are four key areas of expertise that we are seeking to procure, each as an individual lot. Suppliers can apply to one or multiple lots and we welcome collaborative applications. Please note any consortiums or collaborations will be required to bid under a lead supplier as a sub-contractor.

Lot 1: Visioning and Citizen Engagement (see Appendix A (i) UKRI-3363 IUK NZL TA Pool Lot 1 Visioning & Cit Engagement for specific lot requirements)

Lot 2: Net Zero Planning (see Appendix A (i) UKRI-3462 IUK NZL TA Pool Lot 2 NZ Planning for specific lot requirements)

Lot 3: Finance & Investment (see Appendix A (i) UKRI-3463 IUK NZL TA Pool Lot 3 Financing NZ for specific lot requirements)

Lot 4: Policy & Regulation (see Appendix A (i) UKRI-3464 IUK NZL TA Pool Lot 4 Policy and regs for specific lot requirements)

While requirements may vary as to time spent and activities delivered, suppliers must recognise the need to work collectively to avoid thematic siloes and enhance impact in accelerating cohorts on their net zero journey.

4. Supplier vision

4.1 Type of Supplier

We are looking for suppliers who can demonstrate practical experience of their technical expertise, understand how this would apply to local authorities, and are skilled in sharing content in an engaging, participatory and meaningful way. We need suppliers who have:

- Strong and demonstrable experience of the place-based net zero landscape, the enablers or barriers to accelerating a just transition, and specific expertise for the lot they are applying for
- A collaborative culture that leads to long-lasting change, impact and delivery of net zero
- Demonstrable experience in supporting local authorities in the UK
- The ability to be proactive, creative, agile, dynamic and innovative - evolving approaches as the programme develops and the needs of the cohorts become more clear
- Skills in extracting insights from complex and varied range of sources and data

- An open approach to sharing information beyond the Net Zero Living programme, to support, speed up and reduce cost of delivery for everyone else on their journey to net zero. This should not only impact those in receipt of the funding and should have wider impact. We expect insights, resources, content and modules to be shared publicly through the central system established by Innovate UK in collaboration with the convenor and communications partner(s).
- An understanding of systems thinking in practical situations, for example, Smart Local Energy Systems (SLES) and whole system approaches
- The ability to engage with stakeholders at a variety of different technical and expert levels – Fast followers, pathfinders, and demonstrators, policymakers, regulators etc
- A commitment to avoid conflicts of interest, vested interests in a particular approach, black box models, proprietary data, IP ownership issues, etc.
- Can equip the cohort with the necessary skills and knowledge to continue this work beyond the funded period

4.2 Ways of Working & Governance

- The Technical Assistance Pool will be contracted by and accountable to Innovate UK. Any consortiums or collaborations will be required to bid under a lead supplier as a sub-contractor.
- Innovate UK will meet with all suppliers collectively on a quarterly basis
- Innovate UK will meet with each supplier on a monthly basis to review monthly dashboard reports, cover training delivered, activities planned in next month, risks, costs, and other monitoring and evaluation metrics as agreed
- Technical assistance suppliers may be expected to provide updates to the Innovate UK's programme board and advisory group at various points during the programme

To support a successful delivery model each technical assistance supplier must:

- Work with Innovate UK, Innovate UK KTN and all other IUK delivery suppliers to ensure seamless delivery of Future Ready support services to the cohort across a 24-month programme
- Work with the Convenor to understand and interpret all initial cohort needs analysis activity carried out in Q3 2023 and work collaboratively to tailor, triage and target support appropriately and effectively
- Support the work of the independent evaluation supplier in assessing the success of the programme
- Liaise and support the convenor to ensure that effective cohort communications takes place and liaise with external communications partner to maximise the external impact of their work e.g. social media, publication, presentations and insights reports.
- Establish an environment that fosters inclusivity and accessibility, specifically catering to a wide range of participants.
- Provide input to the interim summary report and final report, collated by the convenor, that can be published externally including recommendations for key audiences including local authorities, policy makers, regulators and investors.
- Attend wider cohort touchpoints, identified by the convenor, outside of the technical assistance support and academy modules to help inform programme content based on their expert view of cohort needs, progress and in-flight learnings.
- Liaise and work with the convenor to actively shape the Net Zero Academy module content ensuring their knowledge and learnings are shared across Demo, Pathfinder and Fast Follower cohorts.

- Generate and deliver specialist content using every engagement opportunity to ensure it is as informed, responsive, and innovative as possible
- Collate insights around their specialist topic working together to find synergies across topics and will feed these insights back to the convenor.
- Feed in their learning and insights, through a clear process defined by the convenor, to inform the wider programme and contribute to impactful comms and dissemination activity
- Liaise and agree contributions to the schedule of monthly and quarterly events defined, funded and delivered by the convenor
- Identify and fund specific 121 support for the cohort members and arrange and fund any specific or ad hoc sessions that are required outside of the convenor's schedule
- Ensure that all material delivered and developed as part of this programme is made open source and freely available to stakeholders not funded via this programme, this is about supporting some places and ensuring as much as possible is shared and open so that everyone else can learn and benefit from the net zero pathways being established.

4.3 Branding

All outputs from the programme will be Innovate UK branded and can be co-branded with the agreement of IUK – unless otherwise advised.

4.4 Target audience

The target audience for outputs will be:

- Local authorities and other stakeholders involved in Net Zero Living (funded)
- Local authorities and other stakeholders doing local net zero delivery outside of the programme (not funded)
- Innovate UK, DSIT, DESNZ, DLUHC, DFT, Ofgem.

Working collaboratively across the local net zero support and delivery landscape is essential. The successful tenderer must be able to understand and clearly convey how this work integrates with other existing workstreams in this space, within and outside of the programme.

4.5 Dissemination

We expect the successful supplier to participate in public events, conferences and other speaking opportunities to highlight programme objectives and findings throughout. Please outline in your bid how else you will support the Net Zero Living team with dissemination of the outputs for maximum impact.

4.6 IP Considerations

Please refer to UKRI's T&C's clause 17 and ensure you have fully understood it before submitting your bid.

4.7 Equality Diversity and Inclusion

We expect the successful supplier to submit their ED&I policy with their bid, or agree to the UKRI ED&I policy.

4.8 Stage gate review

The successful supplier(s) is expected to engage in a stage gate review scheduled ahead of time for the 30th September 2024. This is to enable IUK and the technical assistance pool suppliers to review programme progress and the effectiveness of the approach in delivering against KPIs agreed at the start of the contract. To do this IUK will seek the views of the convenor, funded cohorts, delivery suppliers and wider programme stakeholders independently.

Lot 4: Policy and regulation

Net Zero Living: Thriving Places Technical Assistance Pool

1. Introduction

Place-based net zero projects often run up against policy and regulatory barriers to deployment, especially when novel business models or service propositions are part of the anticipated delivery. This part of the Technical Assistance Pool will aim to enable Local Authorities to maximise their opportunities from local net zero delivery, while minimising regulatory uncertainty in their plans so that financing, engagement and planning are all easier to achieve.

The Net Zero policy landscape lacks a framework for integration of place-based delivery, and so delivery remains centrally focussed. We expect a technical assistance supplier working in this space to have a comprehensive understanding of key policies and strategies as well as a proven ability to engage in the more technical aspects of policy and regulation on specific enabling elements for delivery of net zero locally. Critically we want to see evidence of impact from proactive and collaborative policy and regulatory engagement on behalf of local net zero delivery stakeholders.

Our Policy and Regulatory technical assistance supplier will be familiar with a wide range of policy and regulatory materials across key sectoral areas such as Heat, Power, Mobility and Make and Use. Examples would include the Net Zero Strategy (2021, updated 2022): which sets out how the UK Government will deliver on net zero commitments, as well as the Green Finance Strategy (2023): the work of Local Net Zero Hubs: the Review of Electricity Market Arrangements (REMA) (2022): Mission Zero Net Zero 'Skidmore' Review (2023): Changes to the NPPF regarding renewable technologies: Ofgem's RSP consultation: UK Transport Decarbonisation Plan (2021): UK Government Food Strategy (2022): The government and Ofgem's latest consultations and calls for input on retail market reform and domestic flexibility markets.

Our supplier will be aware of any other consultations and calls for evidence and input such as spatial planning, financial regulation, standards reviews and consumer protection that are affecting local authorities' ability to deliver on net zero across areas such as energy, housing, transport, water, waste within both urban and rural settings,

Our Policy and Regulatory technical assistance supplier will also be familiar with the work of Innovate UK's wider sectoral and challenge programmes that have funded activities relevant to this work, particularly those related to the core areas of our net zero strategy, and should be keen to build on them – for instance Prospering from the Energy Revolution's work on Accelerating Net Zero Delivery, Enabling decentralised energy innovation, and Smart Local Energy Systems: Policy and Regulation.

2. Aims & Objectives

This module of support will aim to do four things:

- Upskill our cohort of 50 local authorities on the current net zero policy and regulatory environment, keeping them up to date on policy and regulatory changes and potential future changes. These local authorities are developing innovative non-technical solutions to local net zero delivery challenges in power, heat, transport, manufacturing, and agri-food space in both urban and rural environments.

- Enable more proactive understanding and engagement with policy and regulation over the coming decade and key dependencies, including influencing policy and regulation as it changes for net zero delivery.

Provide specific 1:1 support for projects in developing their delivery thinking with regard to policy and regulation.

- Draw together insights and evidence from project partners to collectively respond to and engage with relevant government and regulatory body consultations/ calls for evidence/ working groups/ calls for input etc. on behalf of all NZL cohorts in collaboration with the convenor and IUK

3. Scope

3.1 Net Zero Academy: Training and upskilling modules

- Deliver x 4 training workshops of up to 2 hrs in length across the 24 months.
- Online sessions will need to be provided for up to 200 attendees and in person sessions to a maximum of 120 attendees.
- Expert provision of summaries and overviews of specific and potential changes within the current regulatory and policy landscape, and potential impacts on local authority delivery of net zero. Modules will support funded projects to proactively and collectively engage with the policy and regulatory changes that may impact them. These needs are likely to be broad and further detail will be identified with the Future Ready convenor and IUK through regular liaison.
- There are significant barriers and opportunities in relation to the energy system and providers should have expertise in energy policy and regulation, matched with significant knowledge of other policy and regulation affecting local net zero delivery.
- We also anticipate other key policy and regulatory barriers to be exposed within heat, planning, transport, water, environmental and financial sectors which would impact on the local delivery of net zero. These must be summarised, explained and enable projects to engage in collective responses.
- Provision of this training should also be able to look forwards from today's environment to the trajectory of policy and regulation to help LA's navigate uncertainty better. An example of this might be the current regulatory development of regional system planning for the networks, and the development of distributed flexibility regulation, both in Ofgem. These both increase the opportunity for local energy systems to be optimised in future, but also increase present uncertainty.
- Content should be tailored and respond to cohort needs and interests as they arise and evolve throughout the programme

3.2 Dedicated 121 Support

- Provide 500 days of support across the Pathfinder and Fast Follower cohorts over 24 months.
- The minimum requirement is for each cohort member to receive a 121 to review their net zero plans and projects to understand policy and regulation implications. The provider will supply the cohort member with a bespoke short summary paper of the key policies and regulations that they should consider, an overview of the barriers that currently exist within these policies and regulations that the cohort member may need to consider for future planning and they should agree or discuss any specific action plan or review schedule required.

- This support should be target those who need it most but should also ensure that all places receive some support and engagement. This support can be online or in person depending on what is most appropriate. The provider will then be able to use any further 121 time to understand the policy and regulatory needs of the cohort members in order to be able to generate a collective response to relevant consultations and to inform the thought leadership reports.
- An example would be that the type of support given could be to aid individual projects in understanding how to develop their specific decarbonisation plans where regulatory and policy barriers are causing issues with making progress. This will involve supporting the development of plans to ensure they are deliverable in the current Policy & Regulation environment, and help them communicate barriers/or communicate specific barriers on their behalf direct to Government and other relevant stakeholders (such as regulatory bodies), this might involve proactive policy engagement, helping them respond to consultations collectively or on a project by project basis, depending on the needs of the projects.

3.3 Insights Generation and Consolidation

- Gather insights and evidence from cohort events and 121 cohort support to identify areas of support for the cohort and also to identify the gaps and opportunities to be considered for regulatory change.
- Provide ongoing insights feedback of the process, results, key findings, and thought leadership as the work progresses, through regular biweekly meetings, that can be fed back into the ongoing central programme to help educate and inform
- Develop or maintain relationships with appropriate HMG and regulatory stakeholders and share the Net Zero Living insights in an appropriate manner
- Producing a minimum of 4 thought leadership papers that synthesise the challenges and make policy recommendations across the net zero challenge area, for example Planning for energy decarbonisation at a local level - Stakeholder feedback and next steps
- Deliver at least 6 x insights per supplier; insights might take the form of short reports/papers, blogs, podcasts or even tools which will be shared externally to the programme. These should be as creative and engaging as possible in both format and delivery and codesigned with IUK and other suppliers. Previous examples can be seen here.
- Attend 8 x quarterly face to face cohort events and 2 additional annual events
- Facilitate at least 4 workshops to coordinate the finance and planning net zero delivery landscapes. Work with the NZL finance and planning technical assistance suppliers, and external stakeholders also delivering finance and planning support for local delivery of net zero, to ensure the support offered is coherent from a local authority perspective, and aligned from a government perspective so that the 'asks' for what is needed next are clear and consistent.

3.4 Responding to Government and Regulatory Consultations

- Work with funded participants to formally engage with and respond to relevant government and regulatory body consultations/ calls for evidence/ working groups/ calls for input etc. on behalf of all NZL cohorts in collaboration with the convenor and IUK. We anticipate that this may take in the region of 70 days of effort with many of the insights being gathered through 121s, workshops and cohort events. We expect involvement to include REMA, RSP and the emerging Retail consultations at a minimum.

- These responses will be published and should reflect evidence emerging from the programme gathered through specific issue specific working groups, module workshops, 121 support and insights generation.

4. Specific requirements

4.1 Demonstrate detailed expertise in policy and regulation of the energy system, and significant knowledge of e.g. planning, finance, transport, environmental and other regulation where it has an impact on local net zero delivery in urban and rural scenarios.

4.2 Demonstrate capability to reactively facilitate and manage collective responses from multiple stakeholders to relevant government and regulatory body consultations/ calls for evidence/ working groups/ calls for input etc

4.3 Demonstrate capability to effectively engage with policy makers and regulators to unlock barriers in the delivery of net zero in places, taking a proactive thought leadership approach with clear, concise and impactful messaging and asks.

4.4 Demonstrate capability to deliver upskilling, training and support on policy and regulation for decarbonising critical systems and accelerating net zero delivery in the UK

4.5 Demonstrate understanding and awareness of the local decarbonisation agenda, opportunities, risks and barriers, with relevant expertise ideally developed by working within active delivery and innovation projects.

4.6 Have the ability to deliver training in complex and uncertain regulatory environments to non-experts in impactful ways that helps fast-track progress.

4.7 Have strong use of real world examples, case-studies and success stories from existing projects

4.8 Be able to help implement agile delivery in the face of uncertainty and change in policy and regulatory environments.

4.9 Demonstrate how you will join up support with other providers in financing and planning in particular.

4.10 Explain how you will ensure impartiality, and sharing of content beyond the programme so that everyone within and outside the programme can benefit from training materials on their journey to net zero.
