The challenge's ambition is to achieve transformation through the development and scale-up of emerging digital therapies - by catalysing collaboration between healthcare and creative sectors, to develop an innovation sector with global potential, and to provide urgently needed new digital delivery models for Mental Health services. In essence, the use of immersive digital technologies to deliver mental health therapies. The twin objectives of Mindset are: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. To stimulate rapid product and service innovation through R&amp;D (applied industrial research) that brings healthcare expertise and XR capabilities together to catalyse a new sector for XR in mental health, to address the unmet mental health needs for people of all ages.</li> <li>2. To promote continuous innovation and sector growth to maintain a world-leading UK sector by funding investment partnerships that build investor capability and confidence in a new sector and attract additional private capital into this emerging sector; supporting trials to generate evidence needed for NHS market entry;</li> </ol>

and establish innovation support to facilitate the sharing of information with the XR sector, including sharing insight on mental health pathways, health economics, regulation and clinical trials

XR refers to Extended Reality and covers Augmented Reality (AR), Mixed Reality (MR) and Virtual Reality (VR), haptics, interfaces, platforms, and software and will often be referred to as immersive technologies.

The proposed overall approach to Mindset is based on 4 workstreams:

- Workstream 1: An early stage 'R&D Fund' to develop new innovative, immersive mental healthcare solutions
- Workstream 2: A 'Test and Trial platform' for the distribution and procurement of mental health and wellbeing XR experiences, products and solutions
- Workstream 3: An 'Investment Partnership fund' for XR/Digital Mental Health SME's
- Workstream 4: A programme of 'Innovation Support' for the Clinical Mental Health & Wellbeing sector, working with NIHR's, MindTech, the KTN and other partners to bring businesses, NHS providers, regulatory and academic partners together to share knowledge and build the market for immersive digital therapeutics

To date of the £20m Mindset Programme budget, £3m has been allocated in grant funding with the first R&D competition closing in December 2022. 29 awards were made. 18 feasibility studies and 11 industrial research projects were funded, with project sizes between £52k and £250k, and project durations from 5 to 24 months. These first round R&D projects are started in April 2023 and two further annual R&D calls are planned, with the second provisionally being scheduled for October 2023.

In that first R&D competition, the highest quality proposals combined leading talent in the creation of immersive experiences alongside an understanding of the regulatory pathways for digital therapeutics. While there was significant interest from the Immersive/Creative technology sector, unsuccessful applicants showed a lack of awareness of the state of the market and/or the innovation pathway that they would need to follow to bring regulated immersive therapeutics to the mental healthcare market.

It is these shortfalls, and wider support for the Mindset challenge that we wish to resolve with this specific programme of Innovation Support.

Aims & Objectives

Innovate UK, part of UKRI, are looking to secure a partner to build and deliver a programme of Innovation Support for the Mindset challenge. The Innovation Support supplier will be responsible for supporting challenge participants and innovators to address gaps in their knowledge and capability through a balance of general support and active, sometimes, project specific interventions.

The provider will be responsible for sharing learnings between challenge participant organisations, identifying, and providing knowledge sharing and active support to overcome common market barriers, enabling collaboration between organisations and supporting the challenge in scaling and spreading ideas and good practice for digital mental health therapeutics to a wider audience.

In order to deliver those objectives, the Innovation Support programme will need to provide the following support activities for Mindset challenge participants and the wider sector:

1. Create a platform (virtual or otherwise) for potential collaborators from the Creative Industries and Digital Health sectors to come together to address the challenges and opportunities facing the sector
2. Provide advice and expert support to potential R&D competition applicants, particularly on regulatory and ethical affairs to help them design projects which can access the market
3. Deliver a programme of outreach and engagement activities to cover the whole of the UK, including the devolved administrations
4. Create a UK wide support network for innovators and SME's operating in the Immersive technology digital therapeutic sector, to build their capabilities
5. Provide post R&D award support, including advice for post-project exploitation and accessing follow-on funding or private investment to achieve marketplace longevity and scale.
6. Facilitate knowledge sharing across a community of interest
7. Provide tailored support for larger scale industrial research projects and smaller feasibility projects as they join the Mindset programme and execute their projects within it.

More information about each of these activities is provided in the requirement section below.

Version 1.0

Background to the Requirement

Mental health problems of some kind will be experienced by 1 in 4 people each year in England<sup>1</sup> while only 1 in 8 adults with a mental health problem are currently getting any kind of treatment<sup>2</sup>. The Covid-19 pandemic has also resulted in a significant deterioration to mental health, supported by the following data:

- The percentage of people reporting at least one severe problem doubled from 10.2% in 2017/19 to 23.7% in April 2020.<sup>3</sup>
- 41% of previously healthy 18-24-year-olds had a mental health condition in April 2020, double the 'normal' level (19 per cent in 2018-2019). This increase remained high at 26% in January 2021<sup>4</sup>

The government has committed to improving mental health and wellbeing outcomes, particularly for people who experience worse outcomes than the general population. This is a key part of the commitment to 'level up' and address unequal outcomes and life chances across the country. Improving mental health is part of the Levelling up Wellbeing mission<sup>5</sup>: By 2030, wellbeing will have improved in every area of the UK, with the gap between top performing and other areas closing. The government has also committed to develop a new cross-government, 10-year plan for mental health and wellbeing for England<sup>6</sup> to support this objective. This plan will include new policies to help people get support at the earliest stage and improve treatment for mental ill-health.

The NHS Long Term Plan<sup>7</sup> (for England) makes a renewed commitment to improve and widen access to care for children and adults needing mental health support. Improving mental health is a priority for all devolved governments. For instance, the Scottish Government policy is that mental illness is one of the major public health challenges in Scotland<sup>8</sup>. Around one in three people are estimated to be affected by mental illness in any one year. They aim to reform children and young people's mental health services, to take a 21st century approach to adult mental health, to respect, protect and fulfil rights, and to make suicide prevention everybody's business.

The "The Growing Value of XR in Healthcare in the UK"<sup>9</sup> report, published in May 2021, identifies the potential to for a new sector of XR in Mental Health and made recommendations for immediate and early-stage actions to support development of a sector that would foster collaboration between SMEs interested in digital mental health, research organisations and a range of NHS organisations. The report was sponsored by the ISCF Audience of the Future Challenge, NHSX, Health Education England, Reshape Innovation and MindTech (the NIHR funded Med-tech cooperative that is a national centre for the development, adoption, and evaluation of innovative technologies for mental healthcare). The recommendations form the basis of the proposed design for Mindset.

The vision for the Mindset investment is to achieve a post Covid transformation of UK Mental Health provision in the face of an accumulating crisis. The competition's ambition is to achieve transformation through the development and scale-up of emerging digital therapies - by catalysing collaboration between healthcare and creative sectors, to develop an innovation sector with global potential, and to provide urgently needed new digital delivery models for Mental Health services.

The rationale for government investment is to address market failures, in particular information asymmetry and capability failures affecting the XR sector entering healthcare services:

- Information asymmetry: Support actions address a poor understanding in businesses and private investors of the market potential, resulting in risk aversion and leading to a lack of investment and commitment of capacity to develop the opportunities. This means that availability of products and services for virtual mental health provision is patchy, often based on expensive and workforce-intensive means that limit access
- Capability failure: Support actions address a skills gap in the XR industry, where businesses have been focused on games and entertainment. New capabilities are needed to open routes to market in health, and actions to share knowledge are aimed to de-risk market entry

The proposed intervention addresses social equity by targeting end beneficiaries (users) of all ages, recognising that the evidence points to a younger demographic as the largest opportunity. Virtual services can improve accessibility and reduce stigma associated with accessing mental health services, which are often greater in some minority cultures. Virtual therapies can also be more accessible than traditional talking therapies for populations using English as a second language. Availability via NHS services ensures universal access.

The strategic rationale is that the increasing prevalence of mental health disorders is a global issue that has been exacerbated by the Covid-19 pandemic. UK has an established and globally competitive digital creative industry, and those companies can benefit from entering the digital mental health therapeutics market to develop and deliver products that can be adopted at scale to improve access to effective treatments and early interventions. Without funding and support this market is unlikely to be sufficiently attractive for digital companies and investors to prioritise in a way that provides for rapid acceleration and global success.

Requirement
The provider should aim to bring together health services, academic and industry members to improve patient outcomes and generate economic benefits by promoting and encouraging innovation in digital healthcare, using creative and immersive technologies. As specified in the aims and objectives, in order to deliver its objectives, the Innovation Support programme will need to provide the following 7 support activities to Mindset challenge participants and the wider sector.

Version 1.0

1. Create a platform (virtual or otherwise) for potential collaborators from the Creative Industries and Digital Health sectors to come together to address the challenges and opportunities facing the sector

Our expectation of the proposed platform provision is that it will bring together projects and the stakeholder community at events and workshops, both virtually and in person, to deliver the 7 support activities listed here. We are interested to learn from suppliers what a best approach may be. Where a virtual platform is leveraged, we anticipate that suppliers will use off the shelf, proven meeting place technologies like Zoom or Teams. We do not anticipate that any new meeting place platform software is developed as a response to this tender, but we are open to ideas about how to best serve the community.

2. Provide advice and expert support to potential R&D competition applicants, particularly on regulatory and ethical affairs to help them access the market.

This is support for potential applications to the following competitions.

1. Support for R&D Round 2, launching Oct 2023
2. Support for R&D Round 3 (2024)

We anticipate this support may include but not be limited to resources, webinars and knowledge sharing sessions. The first R&D competition attracted around 80 applications.

3. Deliver a programme of outreach and engagement activities to cover the whole of the UK, including the devolved administrations

Bidders should outline how activities will engage with innovators across the whole of the UK both through a geographically diverse programme, and via links with partners across the UK.

4. Create a UK wide support network for innovators and organisations operating in the immersive technology digital therapeutic sector to build their capabilities

The activities provided throughout the whole programme should also support the creation of a UK wide support network for organisations to attract new people into the sector, share best practice and signpost into the market. Potential bidders should outline how they see this developing and the extent of the support envisaged within the budget and time constraints of the contract.

5. Provide post R&D award support, including advice for post-project exploitation and accessing follow-on funding or private investment to achieve marketplace longevity and scale

Overall, there will be approximately 70+ R&D awardees by the end of 2024. Potential partners should outline how they would draw on their expertise and networks to maximise post project exploitation.

6. Facilitate knowledge sharing across a Community of Interest

Facilitation activities may include, but are not limited to:

- Regular community workshops.
- The sharing/hosting/disseminating of knowledge assets (likely via a webpage, for example);
- Member events.

A bespoke advice service or clinic offered and applied at a per project level as required, which draws on the knowledge and expertise of the successful bidder. We are also interested to learn from potential suppliers about other facilitation tools they would recommend deploying to support the skills and capabilities of the community.

7. Provide tailored support for larger scale industrial research projects and smaller feasibility projects as they join the Mindset programme and execute their projects within it.

There will be different needs for industrial research and feasibility projects. Bidders should be able to demonstrate how their support will be tailored for projects of different sizes and market maturity.

Version 1.0

The successful bidder will need to demonstrate the capabilities listed below, and will need to draw on this expertise to deliver a knowledgeable and credible programme of activity across the 7 activities outlined above::

- Experience and first-hand knowledge of digital therapeutics, including mental health applications
- Knowledge of regulatory and ethical requirements for digital mental health therapeutic applications, with a capability to guide new entrant businesses
- Knowledge of immersive technology solutions
- Experience of clinical study design and patient engagement, within an NHS framework
- Access to a UK network with creative industry and digital health solution providers
- Demonstrable capability to support challenge participants through developing, and commercialising, new products, services, and solutions
- Demonstrate a strong capability to deliver a support programme of this type, working closely with internal IUK stakeholders

There is an expectation that the tenderer will deliver full continuity of service throughout the length of the contract, by providing sufficient human resources to deliver this programme.

Timetable

Please note, the Mindset challenge team are planning to launch the 2nd round R&D competition during October 2023. It is a requirement of the Innovation Support programme to support both general outreach and engagement for the competition as well as consortium building prior to the application deadline.

- Kick off meeting with successful supplier and IUK (19th September)
  - Weekly check in calls
  - Fortnightly progress review meetings

6.2 Please demonstrate your understanding of the Digital Therapeutics and Creative/Immersive Technology industries by providing an overview of your knowledge related to these sectors, include relevant sources of information, any pertinent data sources, and examples of your prior involvement or achievements in these fields.

A. Digital Therapeutics, encompassing mental health applications.

The Health Innovation Network HIN (lead bidder) has market-leading expertise in digital therapeutics and mental health, with a track record of overcoming the challenges facing those bringing innovations to the NHS market and scaling them. We are the co-lead national Academic Health Science Network (AHSN) for digital innovation, and HIN co-chairs the national AHSN Mental Health Forum. We have an established UK-wide cross-sector network of over 30,000 digital health stakeholders drawn from health and care, commercial, academia, investors and lived experience partners. This has been built through over 7 years in delivering market-leading innovator support programmes, as well as robust links with commercial accelerators (e.g., Cedar Sinai, Pfizer Hub, GRIT -International female health tech entrepreneurs)

The COVID-19 pandemic highlighted and exacerbated the unmet needs in mental health from wellbeing to serious mental illness. This, combined with the access challenges caused by the pandemic, has accelerated the use of digital mental health apps and software-based solutions. Amongst the thousands of digital solutions that potentially offer improvements in mental health, many have not gone through clinical studies or regulatory scrutiny. In recognition of the demand for digital therapeutics within mental health, NICE have recently, through their Early Value Assessment programme, which the NHS is supporting, conditionally recommended eight digital-enabled therapies to treat depression and anxiety disorders in adults and five CBT digital therapies for children and young people. In terms of investment, CB Insights reported that funding for digital health was down 57% in 2022 compared to 2021. Similarly, there was a 23% decrease in mental health tech funding quarter on quarter in 2022. Against this challenging funding environment, the HIN offers innovators association with our well-respected, award-winning support programmes including specific investment support (eg our investor readiness programme and Investor Panel).

Prior involvement HIN's portfolio of programmes has been co-developed in response to the different needs of innovators (e.g.: stage of maturity) and refined through continual evaluation. Evidencing HIN's achievements, our current and previous programmes include:

- Digital Health London Accelerator (DH.LA) has received numerous awards, including Accelerator of the Year (UK Business Angels, 2022), Public Private Partnerships (Lainig Buisson, 2020), and citations (Vapor News, No.1 Digital Health Accelerator in the UK, No.6 in Europe; about Digital Health, No.1 UK Accelerator, Top 10 in Europe). An external evaluation in 2020 gave our funders 7x return on DH.LA investment in terms of gross value added. In the first 5 years DH.LA participants raised over £2bn, with over £130m investment raised during their period of DH.LA support, creating over 1,500 jobs, 591 new contracts and 68 new products and, importantly, achieving Net Promoter Scores of 65-85% 'Excellent'.
- Techforce19: Led the national £4m rapid competition for healthtech solutions in response to COVID-19 for NHSX, Ministry of Housing, Communities and Local Government, resulting in 300 applications and 20 projects supported by business coaches from across the AHSN Network.
- UK Digital Health Accelerator: Led delivery of a UK-wide accelerator through 5 simultaneous programmes in East Midlands, Manchester, Southwest, London, and Southeast England.
- Innovation Clinics: Ran 146 clinics in 2022/23 (bespoke 1:1 advice clinics) to provide bespoke advice to innovators, whilst also helping them navigate and connect to key infrastructure.

In 2022/2023, the AHSN Network (sub-contractors) supported 2831 companies which leveraged almost £428m investment, created 565 new jobs and safeguarded 763 jobs.

B. Regulatory and ethical requirements for digital mental health therapeutic applications, with a capability to guide new entrant businesses.

There is a lack of clarity for regulators, companies, and users/ buyers regarding how to categorise XR hardware and software as Medical Devices, Software as a Medical Device (SaMDs) or Software in a Medical Device (SiMD). The International Medical Device Regulators Forum (IMDRF) has developed guidance on definitions, framework for risk categorisation, quality management, and the clinical evaluation of such devices. requires us to have a diverse recruitment panel to include at least one global majority team member, and we actively seek to make our recruitment process as widely attractive and equitable as possible. Furthermore, GSTT promote equality and diversity in all aspects of their services and deliver a series of training for staff on key issues pertaining to EDI such as unconscious bias, active allyship, microaggressions and cultural competency. This training is compulsory for HIN staff.

- B. How our organisation promotes the health, wellbeing, and integration of individuals within your workforce and the broader community. Our specific programs, activities, or initiatives that focus on these areas and contribute to social value.
- Through GSTT and HIN's programmes we serve a range of diverse local communities. We promote all aspects of diversity, access and inclusion and are widely recognised for our achievements:
- In 2019, GSTT launched the NHS Rainbow Badge to show that we're an open, non-judgemental, and inclusive place for people identifying as LGBTQ+. The scheme has since been adopted by more than 150 NHS trusts in England.
  - In 2021, we received an award from an NHS England scheme rating Trusts on their LGBTQ+ inclusivity and commitment to supporting patients and staff from the LGBTQ+ community.
  - Our widening access to employment and skills strategy has won several awards, helping people who are homeless and those with disabilities into jobs.
  - We run active apprenticeship schemes across a wide range of areas including hospitality, healthcare science and clinical apprenticeships such as nursing associates.
  - We currently have over 540 apprentices and aim to offer up to 350 new starters per year.

As part of the NHS, we participate in the NHS Staff Survey which reports under the core themes of the NHS People Promise, with health and wellbeing data surveyed under the theme of 'we are safe and healthy'. This data provides insights into where improvements can be made. Supporting staff wellbeing is an important part of HIN's culture and is intricately linked to one of our five key strategic priorities, 'to build a sustainable, resilient, diverse and joyful organisation.' We recognise that how staff feel about their job and their time spent at work can have a significant impact on their overall health and happiness and contribute in turn to how staff function at work. Colleagues and teams that are happy at work experience less stress, and one way of supporting this is by focussing on wellbeing and nurturing a culture where wellbeing is promoted and prioritised.

HIN's staff wellbeing support offer, which began in 2014, is central to how we support staff at work. The offer is run by several HIN team members with Executive representation and strives to embody the HIN's values. Our offer provides staff with a range of activities to improve their physical and mental health (eg weekly yoga and meditation sessions), creates opportunities for staff to come together and connect with others (eg book and ukulele clubs), promotes a number of different awareness campaigns throughout the year (at least one of which has a focus on mental health), and signposts to a range of professional services provided by GSTT.

This support extends to the communities in which we live and work. The HIN wellbeing team regularly promotes local activities including the arts, cultural celebrations, ethnic minority owned businesses, and local health initiatives. Furthermore, HIN/GSTT human resources policy on taking time off work for special leave includes paid time for compulsory civic duties, and time to act in roles such as school governor and trustee of a charity, freeing up staff capacity to participate in their communities and provide societal benefits. Many HIN staff have been able to act in these responsible roles, which in turn provide a rounded experience of local population challenges and deep connections to charity organisations which can positively impact their work to support those same communities and patient populations.

In terms of social value, we are bound to NHS England's stated policy objective to meet its net zero carbon targets while achieving its wider social value priorities, including through procurement. The
